EXCITEMENT REIGNED in the third grade of Youngsville elementary schools on Monday of this week when representatives of Warren County school system, Bell Telephone Co., Brokenstraw Valley joint schools, and the Warren County Crippled Children's organization with photographers and reporters invaded the security of the classroom to inaugurate an outstanding advance in educational facilities. When Mrs. Eleanor McLaughlin pointed out the presence of the visitors, practically every head turned to the rear of the room where the dignitaries had gathered. Needless to say, little was accomplished in the way of studying during the visitation as the youngsters spent most of their time blinking from the direct viewing of flash bulbs.

NO WAY TO MISS SCHOOL NOW. Several blocks from the school, on Davis st., Terry Lucas rejoined his class, by means of a two-way, intercommunication system, provided by the Crippled Children's Committee of Warren County through the facilities of the Bell Telephone Company. Terry suffered a broken hip in a tumble from a double-decker bed and is now being treated for a diseased hip bone and as a result is in a cast from his waist to his ankle.

Terry can listen to all the instructions from Mrs. McLaughlin, hear recitations of his classmates (he can almost hear the whispered communications between students), and ask questions or answer interrogations by merely flipping a switch on the control box by his bed. The transmitters are so powerful that they can pick up normal conversations at a distance of approximately one hundred feet.

Mrs. Orrie Maasz, Crippled Children's nurse, and Mrs. Gerald Lucas, Terry's mother, listened as Mrs. McLaughlin and third graders sent cheery messages to the bed-ridden, eight year old during the recess period. The classroom noises were so plain that Terry could visualize active participation in the school's favorite - the eraser game.

With prospects of the rest of the school year passing without entering the school room, Terry is enthusiastic about the revolutionary system (first in Warren County) because he will be able to keep up his work and pass the weary hours. Mrs. Lucas is equally as interested as would any mother of an active Cub Scout who is temporarily incapacitated.

FIRST TIME. Mrs. Eleanor McLaughlin (left) posed with official representatives of the organizations involved in front of the transmitter and receiver which has been placed on the bookcase. In the group are: (left to right) Mrs. Orrie Maasz, Crippled Children's nurse; H. J. Sherwood, supervising principal of Brokenstraw Valley joint schools; Horace Crary, chairman of the Crippled Children's committee of Warren County; John Mallory, Jr., Superintendent of Warren County Schools; and Robert E. Anstadt, Warren manager of Bell Telephone Company. This is the first time that a school-home telephone service has been employed in Warren County.

Earned Income Tax Considered By Warren To Meet Budget Needs

A request for the consideration of the earned income tax as a means of providing revenue to finance an adequate budget was unanimously granted Finance Chairman Emery by the Warren borough council, Monday night. The additional money would provide wage increases and funds needed by numerous departments which were cut at the beginning of the year.

Council did not approve the tax. It gave the finance committee its approval for a study of the income levy and told it to prepare an ordinance which will be discussed by the entire council before being presented for action at a formal meeting.

President Laskaris named Councilmen Africa, Newmaker, and Johnson to serve on a committee that will fulfill a motion made January 10 which suggested that council study the possibilities of dividing the big Fifth Ward and the reduction of the number of councilmen. Council now has a census of the Fifth in geographical proportion, provided by the county commissioners who inspired the action through a letter to council.

Councilmen Merenick introduced several sewer and paving ordinances which were improved, including 481 feet of storm sewer extension at the north end of Beech st., starting at Fourth ave., paving of North South st., from Pennsylvania ave. to Madison, paving of South South st., from Pennsylvania ave. to Lexington, paving of Central ave., from Madison to Lincoln, and the paving of Dartmouth st., from Pennsylvania to Lincoln. All will be thirty feet wide.

Councilman Painter reported that Fire Captain Jim Tridico is hospitalized as the result of the inhalation of smoke at a recent New Process fire. His condition is not reported to be serious, but he will require rest. He said that Captain Mintzer is in charge of the department.

Manager Geracimos reported that Street Commissioner Webster has been taken home from the hospital and will be confined there for two weeks.

Councilman Carbon obtained permission to lease the land of August and Martha Schultz for a playground in the Fifth Ward, with an option to buy. He explained that it will be put into shape for use this year and the lease will cover two playground seasons. An effort will be made to include a hot stove diamond to replace the one lost at the head of Conewango ave.

The oil wells on the property will not be pumped during playground hours, and when the area is purchased they will be plugged as a part of the price. The rental cost is fifty dollars a year. The purchase price will be $5500, to be paid in two installments.

Council gave the building and lands committee permission to renew the airport lease of Einer Johnson for another fifteen months. Mr. Johnson said that the major industrial use given the port is by officials of Sylvania, and the port now has about twenty-five active flyers.

He objected to cultivation of parts of the airport, because of danger to people on any part of the field and because plowed ground is washed away by the high water. He proposed that it be allowed to grow over and develop a protective sod.

Councilman Frantz, of the planning and zoning committee, recommended several amendments to the zoning ordinance. One would extend the R-1 area of the zoning map to include the new portion of the Fifth Ward, southeast of Quaker road and the borough line. Another change establishes the number of cars which private garages can house in R1, R2, and R3 areas. The limit is two passenger, one commercial, and one per family in the case of multiple dwellings.

Another proposal would make exceptions possible in building permits involving odd shaped lots. And it was proposed that all hearings before the board of adjustment for special exceptions be public.

The ordinance amendments were referred to the planning commission, preceding final action.

Engineer DeBell reported that the inexpensive type of paving done on many streets in 1950 now needs sealing. He said it should be sealed every two years, and now has been untouched for four. The result is that streets such as Canton are in poor condition. The total cost will be $8,500, about $2,000 of which would be spent on Canton where both drainage and sealing must be provided.

Councilman Emery also was appointed to serve as a representative of council on the firemen's pension board.

TO SPOTLIGHT ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF YOUTH. Representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce (left to right) Tom Barratt, secretary, John Stachowiak, chairman, Joe Spence, publicity chairman, are developing plans for discovering Warren's "Outstanding Junior Citizen". Educational, religious, and youth leaders may nominate worthy young people between the ages of 10 and 17 with full assurances that the judging will be on the basis of accomplishments in accordance with the individual's age. The Jaycees hope to emphasize the good in an effort to counteract the bad reports on our youth. The other member of the committee, Dr. William Walters, (not pictured) is responsible for selecting the judges.

President's Re-Election Not A Sure Thing!

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON -- Certain current events recall an incident that occurred in the National Press Club on November 1, 1948, when this reporter was carefully writing out his forecast on the forthcoming Presidential election to be submitted in the annual club pool.

He was, it is needless to say, predicting the election of Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York because, after all, everybody from Dr. Gallup on down knew that was a sure thing. All that remained was the casting and counting of the votes. A friend with whom this reporter was talking, an experienced political reporter of many campaigns, suggested elfishly:

"Why don't you guess Harry Truman will win? Then if he does, why you'll be famous as the one fellow who picked him."

But that was dismissed imperiously. One couldn't take this matter lightly as a joke and a gamble. This was serious business. To regard it otherwise was an insult to the noble profession of political experting. One must express one's best judgment.

It would have been fun, though, to have been right that year.

Which is by way of submitting — sufficiently far in advance — a minority report on the 1956 Presidential election to the effect that it is by no means sure that President Eisenhower would be re-elected if he decides to run again. There are those — and some with records for political astuteness — who hold this view.

One hesitates to utter such an unorthodox thought in the hearing of Republican friends, so one doesn't — just puts it down on paper like this at a safe distance. Republicans are sure that the President would win again. Their only worry is that he may not run.

We have just had additional evidence of how frantic they are that he may not run in the beautiful show of righteous fury into which they got themselves worked up when National Democratic Chairman Paul Butler suggested that the President might not run again on account of Mrs. Eisenhower's health. The First Lady happened to have a case of influenza at the time of Chairman Butler's indiscretion, so it was, in effect, striking a lady when she was down.

Such a show of chivalry we had from Republicans over Mrs. Eisenhower as you never saw! It was reminiscent of a bevy of indignant Southern Colonels of ante-bellum days — or, at least, of the stories about them. There was Col. Joe Martin, Sir, of South Massachusetts, and Col. George Aiken of South Vermont, and Col. Everett Dirksen of South Illinois, their goatees aquiver with emotion as they chastised that damyankee Butler of Indiana.

This was all a bit out of character somehow, and a bit out of character it was, too, because some of those who were so unctious in leaping to the defense of poor Mrs. Eisenhower once used to speak most ungraciously and scornfully of another First Lady, both publicly and privately. Incidentally, one imagines that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt must be amused at all of this.

The way the Republican gentlemen pounced on Chairman Butler's remark and whipped it around showed how tragic a fate they would consider it for the Republican party if the President didn't run again. Mr. Butler's indiscretion likewise illustrates the worry among Democrats that the President will run again.

But to the minority report — The belief that President Eisenhower could win re-election is based chiefly on the assumption that he would continue to remain apart from and above his party, a popular, non-partisan figure, and that people would vote for him independently of his party. The Republican party is a minority party once again, and nobody knows that better than Republicans. It was proved for all to see in November's Congressional election which, when analyzed, shows the party in really bad shape as a party.

To the extent that the President becomes merged with his party and is held responsible for what it does, to that extent he will be weakened with the people. That may not happen before the 1956 election to a degree that would endanger the President's re-election should he run again. But there are those in touch with public sentiment who believe it is beginning to happen already.

Never in modern times has a President of one party and a Congress of the other been chosen in a Presidential election year. The White House and Congress always go together. A Democratic Congress seems about as sure as anything in 1956. The people might conceivably elect a Republican President if the candidate again were General Eisenhower, and a Democratic Congress. The odds would seem much against it.

This minority report is submitted, and filed — but no bets are being taken.

More Bunnies

Last fall was a good one for those who enjoy rabbit stewed, roasted, fried, or in any tasty form. The little cottontails were plentiful. Perhaps they will be in good supply again next fall, a fact which may be helped by the record number which this winter were trapped and removed from cities, parks, and areas where they were a nuisance.

The annual transfer process accounted for 60,129 rabbits this year, which is a new record for this project. The highest previous total was the 59,000 of 1954. In 1952 it was 58,000, and in 1953 the total read 53,000.

A Not Proud Record

There was a record established last fall of which the nimrods need not be so proud. A total of 510 were injured in non-fatal accidents. This is the highest in the last ten years, 1953 coming the closest with 509. The lowest was 1944 when only 209 were wounded. But the war year may have accounted for the low total.

However, 1954 saw 21 killed during the Pennsylvania hunting season. This is next to the lowest for the ten year period. In 1950 the total was 16. We suspect that the doe seasons have some effect on these totals.

The most prevalent cause for these casualties was failure to see the victim in the line of fire. The total shot for this reason was 22. Shotguns accounted for most of them, 458. The vast majority occurred while hunting upland small game, 447. Self-inflicted caused 82. The other 449 were shot by others.

High School Class

House Bill 475 would allow high schools to give credit equal to gym credit for attending classes in conservation and the use of firearms. The use of firearms would include both handling and marksmanship. Conservation study would cover plant, fish, and animal life.

Would Move School

House Bill 476 would move the Ross L. Leffler Training School, near Brockway, to the Pennsylvania State University. It then would be operated by the University as a conservation school to train personnel for this work. This school now is operated by the game commission.

Evasive Duck

The game commission release this week tells about David R. Titus, Warren county game protector, learning that a duck he had tagged and liberated on Chapman Dan in July, 1951, had been shot and killed on January 4 of this year on Pin Oak Flat, near Corning, Arkansas. He managed four years of wide migration without picking up any lead.

Spring Planting

(A release received from A. H. Vogler, district forester, has the following to say.)

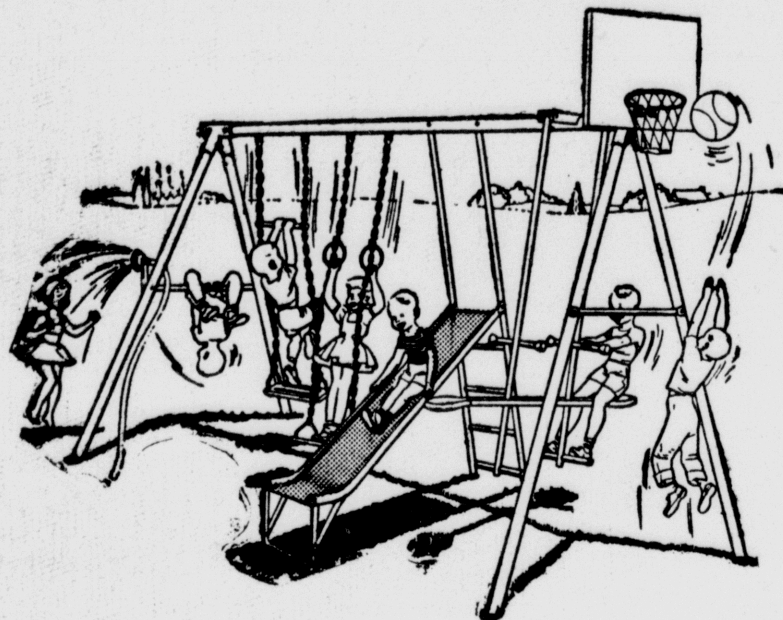

With Saint Patrick's Day here we are reminded that if we frighten a leprechaun he will reveal where a pot of gold is hidden, providing, that is, if we are on time and in the right place.

A more sure way of getting our pot of gold is to plant to trees the hundreds of acres of ground which are not productive in anyway. These planted trees serve us then in many ways: by making habitate for our wild life, recreational areas, and in time by supplying us with food and various wood products. The standing trees retard run-off, helping to prevent floods and the washing away of the soil. In this way, too, our fishing streams are kept clear and clean. Not the least but most important, trees build up our soils so that by seepage our wells and underground water storage reservoirs can continuously supply our home and industrial water needs.

If we want the land we live on to keep in place, we must keep it covered with vegetation and also farm it in the proper manner. One way is by tree-planting the acreage which is not useful for agricultural crops or pastures.

Chasing rainbows is fun, but a thrifty stand of trees is security.

It's not too late to start that pot of gold growing. Fourteen species of trees are available from State nurseries for planting this spring.

Applications for trees and shrubs can be obtained by writing to the District Forester, Warren, Pennsylvania. State nursery stock can not be used for Christmas tree growing or ornamental plantings.

TV-League Baseball Begins April 2

A FULL SEASON of Saturday afternoon major league baseball will be telecast each week by WBEN-TV, beginning with an exhibition game April 2. The regular season opens April 16 with the game between the Philadelphia Phils vs. the New York Giants at 1:55.

The Game of the Week, originated by CBS Television from major league ball parks, will get under way with two preseason exhibition games.

Dizzy Dean and Buddy Blattner, veteran major league and sportscasters, will handle the play-by-play description.

A three-month schedule in the 26-week series follows:

- April 2—New York Giants vs. Cleveland Indians at 1:55 P. M.
 April 9—New York Yankees vs. Brooklyn Dodgers at 1:55 P. M. (exhibition)
 April 16—Philadelphia Phils vs. New York Giants at 1:55 P. M.
 April 23—New York Giants vs. Brook-

- lyn Dodgers at 1:55 P. M.
 April 30—Baltimore Orioles vs. Cleveland Indians at 1:55 P. M.
 May 7—Kansas City Athletics vs. Cleveland Indians at 1:55 P. M.
 May 14—Brooklyn Dodgers vs. Cincinnati Redlegs at 2:25 P. M.
 May 21—Philadelphia Phils vs. Brooklyn Dodgers at 1:55 P. M.
 May 28—Brooklyn Dodgers vs. New York Giants at 1:55 P. M.
 June 4—New York Yankees vs. Chicago White Sox at 2:25 P. M.
 June 11—New York Yankees vs. Cleveland Indians at 1:55 P. M.
 June 18—Cleveland Indians vs. Boston Red Sox at 1:55 P. M.
 June 25—Chicago White Sox vs. Boston Red Sox at 1:55 P. M.

In the event a game is postponed, a standby game will be telecast from a different city possibly alternating the starting time.

Natural Sponsor

If color television is to be perfected, such film authorities as Eastman will play a major part in the development of processes. It is natural, therefore, that Eastman now is taking over the job of weekly sponsoring a program which will be in color.

Through this program it not only will be promoting such television and keeping it alive in this period when it does not pay sponsors to support such prices, but it is also will serve as a testing laboratory for new ideas.

No matter how thoroughly you check out new machines, materials, and methods in the plant there is no way of clearing up the bugs other than the actual use. Eastman in this fashion should help lick many of the color problems.

The program is seen on CBS, Wednesday evenings at seven. It is called Norby, and is a family situation type of program.

Meaning Of TV Symbols

A few people have asked us what the asterisks and other symbols mean when placed before or after various television programs. The meanings vary with the stations, but usually the asterisk indicates that the program is a change from last week. The big black dot on WGR means color television.

On WBEN a program change is marked by an "x". The symbol "@" means color program. On both Altoona and Johnstown the asterisk also means changed program. Pittsburgh, we suspect, also follows this pattern.

We Miss Much

When we heard those television awards announced it became apparent that we were not qualified either to commend or approve television as a whole.

We not only had not seen some of the winners, but we hadn't even heard of them. The hours devoted to television by this writer are mighty few. Add to this the fact that some programs are not seen in this area and we are left with only a small share of the fare on which to comment.

But it reminds us that a Disneyland program will be seen Saturday night. This gentleman has been taking many honors, and the title, "Operation Undersea", which is booked as a glimpse of life and death beneath the surface of the sea, suggests it could have the kind of class which earns him his honors. It will be seen and heard on WGR, at six.

Soon We Hear Bats

If you like baseball you can start being happy about television on April 2 when an exhibition game between the New York Giants and the Cleveland Indians will be broadcast. The Yanks and Brooklyn will go to it on April 9. Then they start playing for keeps and the first TV game will be seen April 16 between Philadelphia and the Giants.

And if you don't like baseball, give thanks for other channels.

But if radio is your dish and you don't like baseball, . . . poor you. In fact, poor you, already. The practice games have started to replace live, current news.

They Must Be Good

Up Sheffield way they are mighty proud of the Variety show their high school choir is presenting this year. It packed them in for two nights at Sheffield, then went over big at Ludlow. The towns are close enough so that the turn-out would not have been big if the show had not been class.

Now the show is really hitting the road. It was seen in Tionesta on March 15, and under the sponsorship of the Warren Zonta Club, is walking onto Beatty's auditorium stage, March 22. Zonta members are pushing this one as a benefit for the many projects they carry out, and you also see a good show.

It also is a benefit for the Sheffield boys and girls who put on the show. They are earning money for their trip to York and to buy new choir robes.

Observations

Healthy Election

When you realize that we are enjoying reasonably prosperous times (certainly there is no depression), it is a credit to the independent thinking of many citizens that we have so many candidates in the current primary election field. In Warren county where the one party system has become so firmly entrenched through the efficiency of a strong Republican machine, it is a healthy sign when sufficient courage is found to provide opposition in the bids for all offices.

More officials are to be elected to county and local offices this year than ever has been the case in our experience. And for every major office, with the possible exception of the judgeship, there is competition in the primaries.

In the midst of this we find some young dukes in the GOP ranks.

They are not content with the constant domination of young blood by the senior members and believe the party needs a shot of youthful adrenalin.

The recent loss in the state election eliminates the power of state patronage, and many who recently stayed well in line because of the spoils system now are kicking their heels a bit. Opposition candidates, especially those with a buck or two to spend, may find ready workers at the precinct level.

Just who are the organization candidates is not publicly clear, but if it has a slate it may have to spend a large dollar or two in the days to come. Not only are there candidates and supporters who are willing to get out and hustle votes, but there are some who apparently are willing to kick a few pennies into the kitty. If these independents were to form a slate of their own, their money would go farther and the resultant victors might come up with more than a few offices. They might also control the party.

Democrats Hustling

On the Democrat side of the election we find them working hard at the job of providing a candidate for each office. They even have competition in some cases, which also is an encouraging situation. At least the vacuum of the past has been replaced with sufficient interest to get a few names on the line.

The Democrats also have the power of state patronage to help them this year. Many who had lost hope and saw no reason to stand up and be identified now are coming out in the open to let the world know they are members of the winning party. This also should help registrations for the Democrats. If good leadership can be developed, many independents, who have been registered Republican to make their vote worthwhile, may switch as a means of moral support.

One step the Democrats are taking in the state to remove some of the politics from public office is to make it impossible for county chairmen to hold office. This sounds like the kind of step that may help them to stay where they are for more than four years. The last time they went to the other extreme and soon were out.

If the Democrats abide by their announced policy it will mean that Mike Papaverio must either give up his chairmanship if he is to be rewarded with a good plum, or he must not accept any patronage. A tough decision for Mike, perhaps, but a good sign for things to come if the party follows through in related ways.

Perhaps the Democrats have good ammunition here, if they can carry it through. If a party has any faith in itself it should be able to finance its own costs without asking the public to do so. It might be contended, successfully, that a party should pay its own officers. Or they should serve because of their sincere belief in the party's policies and what it can do for better government.

Too Much Need and Rewards

One very obvious weakness of our party system will be evident in the current primary election. It isn't a weakness of the system as much as it is a mis-use of it. This is the tendency to choose a candidate for office on the basis of his need or his service to a political party. Neither seems a very good qualification for serving the public.

You will hear it said that such and such should have an office because he needs a job, or needs money. This is about as sad a reason for electing a man as we can dream up. If the gentleman is fully qualified for other reasons, fine. Use them as the reasons for choosing him. Otherwise let him go out and get a job for which he really is qualified.

We also hear it argued that a man should be elected to a public office because of the work he has done for a political organization. This also is inconsistent. In most cases you will find that the candidate who has worked so hard for the party has been well repaid,.... well paid during the many campaigns he has helped wage and often with continual jobs, which the public has financed.

Again, if this man is qualified for some other reason, let us say so. But if his chief asset is his obedience to party dictates and robot performances at election time, the public should look closely at his opponent.

It is not the duty of the public to financially reward party workers. But it is the duty of the party to provide capable candidates. And again it is the duty of the voters to examine these capabilities and to choose accordingly.

All very fine, says you, but it doesn't work that way. Well, if it doesn't work that way it is no one's fault but your own, Mr. American citizen, with your right to choose and your right to vote. The day the public starts demanding more from a vote-seeking candidate than an election card, and promises to vote only for those who have well thought-out answers to current issues, that day we will have democracy.

That day we will have politics played to please an enlightened public....not to reward party workers.

ASIDES

The Small Income earner is not getting any happier in Warren. At the same time that the effort to reduce his federal tax was failing in Washington, the Warren council was talking about taxing his income for more local funds.

The daily was not correct in its front page story concerning this tax. It said that council had favored and given its blessing to the wage tax. The fact is that there are several councilmen who oppose it. But they agreed to let the committee study the tax and prepare an ordinance which is to be discussed and acted on even before it reaches a formal meeting.

Our question is, who will administer the tax? Who do the proponents of the tax have in mind? An expert has told them that the tax is most effective when a special collector is employed. Who?

Two Brothers are to be found on the primary election ballot, on opposite sides of the line-up. Erv Branch is running for commissioner on the Democrat side, and Shorty Branch is after the Republican treasury nomination.

Total Cost of Beaty school's remodeling is $938,058.12. The contractors are receiving $798,026 of that. Equipment costs $34,292. Architect fees, $47,881; authority cost, $10,950, and bond discount, $28,200, are others.

The Cost of Schooling in the Warren area will not level off until 1960, the state estimates. Salaries under the law must increase yearly until maximum rates are reached. And when the new high school is built the annual cost increase for payments will be about $100,000 a year for thirty years!

How much of this the state will pay depends on Harrisburg. We also believe it depends on Washington which should be coming through with just about that much if it really wants to relieve both the local tax and school situation.

Patronage Announcements this week began to be released by the Warren county Democrats. Thomas J. Donnelly, of 707 Madison ave., Warren, has been appointed revenue agent at the Warren State hospital, replacing Frank Chapman. Mr. Donnelly once served as business analyst for the price stabilization office in Erie.

Oscar Emmert Nicholson, 306 East st., Warren, replaces Mrs. Hazel Sarvis as inheritance tax appraiser. He has been employed in the law office of his brother, C. Henry Nicholson.

Carl J. Anderson, of Sheffield, has been named junior building inspector, succeeding David Ritchie, also of Sheffield. Mr. Anderson is painting and decorating contractor, and owns the Sheffield Paint and Wallpaper Store.

And we read that Worth Hammond, of Columbus twp., has been appointed highway superintendent in place of Warren Lowe.

The Money Earned by the Allegheny National forest last year through the sale of products and the charges made for the forest area's use will be worth $45,767.85 to the counties in which it is located. This represents one quarter of the gross receipts and goes to the counties in lieu of taxes.

Affected, are Warren, McKean,

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS. Those who are responsible for determining the policies of the local Cancer Society are pictured during one of their many meetings. These Forest, and Elk. They are paid in proportion to the acreage involved, and the money must be used for roads or schools. For some strange reason this news comes from the office of Congressman Gavin, who isn't running for office until next year.

The Terrible News concerning what men are doing with airborne weapons these days came booming over the radio. A lady listener looked dreamily out of a window at the blue expanse above. "I can remember," she said, "when it was such a peaceful place up there. The only worry to be found in the sky was an occasional bird that might fly over. And in an entire lifetime I've never experienced a direct hit!"

individuals generously give of their time in order that sufferers of the dreaded disease may have the latest that medical science can offer. The Board consists of (left to right) Miss Violet Peterson, BPW representative; A. L. Rasmussen, treasurer; Miss Martha Lupold, chairman of service committee; Miss Mina Rieder, executive secretary of Warren County unit; Mrs. Raymond Rapp, secretary; Dr. Albert Eberly, co-chairman of education committee; Dr. John E. Thompson, president; Dr. Robert Donaldson, chairman of education committee; S. Knox Harper, 1955 campaign chairman, Miss Dorothy Baker, vice president; Dr. J. R. Sugerman, co-chairman of education committee; Mrs. W. E. Rice, county captain. The other member of the board, Robert O. Wilder, chairman of the projects committee, was absent when the picture was taken.

SOUTH OF THE BORDER DOWN MEXICO WAY. With prospects of railroading to Chicago and flying to Mexico City just around the corner, excitement is beginning to become apparent in the expressions and conversations of six Warren high school students and their advisor, Miss Jean Spencer. A fabulous week, April 6 to April 13, will be spent in traveling to and from the nation on our southern border and in seeing the sights which have been previously viewed in travelogues and pictorial magazines. A few of the girls have never traveled by train and most never dreamed of winging through space to the destination. No wonder they remark of "butterflies" and breathlessness.

FOR THOSE NOT CONTENT WITH THE ORDINARY

OFF IN GOOD VOICE went these Warren county bowlers who took nine teams to the state tournament last week end. But there were some who were fortunate to manage a faint whisper on Monday morning, due to their enthusiastic encouragement of compatriots during the singles, doubles, and team events.

Primary Contests Face Both Major Parties

The deadline for political aspirants to indicate intentions of entering the May 17 primary elections arrived Monday with an avalanche of petitions nearly burying the clerks in the Warren County Commissioners' office. A total of thirty individuals petitioned for places on the ballot in an effort to win the twelve county positions which are at stake in the November general election.

In Brief

Excess Surplus Food has been returned to the custody of the Warren County Commissioners following the distribution on Wednesday, March 9. During the intervening period between registrations and apportioning, several deaths and movings influenced the returnable produce. Most heartening were reports of individuals who had received employment with wages in excess of the maximums allowed by law who advised the distributors that they were ineligible. Profuse thanks have been expressed to the volunteer firemen and the Salvation Army members for their cooperative spirit and enthusiastic efforts.

Two Juveniles Were Apprehended by Sheriff Linder and a member of the State Police as a result of investigations into the burglary of the Norman Taylor residence in Garland. The robbery occurred on March 11 and Mr. Taylor reports that nothing is missing from the premises.

A Total Of $12,443.90 has been reported by Mrs. William Rice in the Red Cross campaign up to Wednesday morning. Incomplete returns from all divisions brought the total to approximately the same figure as last year in the same number of days. With more than fifty percent of the $26,350 goal still to go, greater effort is indicated for both workers and donors.

Deposits Totalling Nearly $7,000 in the former Warren Savings Bank and Trust Co. neared final distribution this week when the court, with Judge Elmer Evans of Erie Co. presiding, indicated that a petition entered by the Warren Bank and Trust Company, as trustees, would be honored. The local financial house requested invocation of a provision of the fiscal code which would grant the funds to the state through the Department of Revenue.

The deposits have been held intact by the officials of the Warren Bank and Trust Co. since they assumed the responsibilities of the Warren Savings Bank and Trust Co. on February 9, 1934. A 1953 court order provided for distribution of the funds to the depositors or their heirs. The amount now being disposed of is the residue which is, as yet, unclaimed and the whereabouts of the owners still unknown. This particular action does not close the door in case bonafide recipients are located, as proof of ownership is all that is required to request return of the deposits.

Judge Evans was invited to hear the case when Judge Flick disqualified himself through an association with the Warren Bank and Trust Company's attorneys before being elevated to the bench.

The Chinese Are Anxious to learn the American way of doing things, according to Robert E. Davies who is employed on Formosa in construction work for Blaw-Knox Company. Mr. Davies, well known in Warren as the construction superintendent of the "Catformer" for the United Refining Company, revealed that the Chinese Petroleum Corporation is having a plant built which is similar to the United's. Three trainees from Chinese Petroleum Corporation are on their way to the United States and Warren now, to observe and study the operations of the United Refining Company's catalytic reformer.

Past Presidents' Pins were presented by Mrs. Janet Peck to Howard Landers, Mrs. Blanche Schimmelfeng, Mrs. Virginia Hohman, Mrs. Edna Hultman, Mrs. Cecilia Smith, and Mrs. Myrtle Wallin at the family tureen dinner of the Irvinedale PTA held in the Glade township fire hall on Tuesday evening. Other former presiding officers, George Johnson, Charles Knapp, Mrs. Betty Fowler, and Mrs. Pat Whitmire, were not present to receive the honors. Approximately 150 heard reports which revealed that President Peck

He is a graduate of the New York City School of Optics, and is well known for his activities as a Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce member, on whose board he now serves. He is secretary of the YMCA Boys Work committee and has served on the Warren Youth Canteen's adult steering committee.

He also is chairman of the Young Republicans of Warren county and last year served as the group's treasurer. As a member of the First Baptist church he is secretary of the board of trustees, chairman of the board of Christian education, and a Sunday school teacher.

He was an officer in the European theatre during World War II with the 8th Air Force, and is an active member of the Air Force Reserves at Jamestown, New York.

A Sauerkraut Dinner will be prepared for public consumption between 5:30 and 7:30 p. m., Tuesday, March 22 by and at the Woman's club. Tickets may be secured from members of the entertainment committee.

YMCA Boys' Work Secretary, Allen L. Anderson, resigned his position effective April 1, according to an announcement released by President Alan H. Templeton this week. Mr. Anderson has accepted a position with Radiq Station WNAE.

Student Council Representatives of Warren high school to the district meeting which will be held in Franklin on March 29 were elected at a meeting held on March 8. The delegates are Henry Lanman, David Lopez, Judy Moore, and Nancy Sidon. On the last day of the convalesce Thomas Erickson, Elizabeth Johnson, Stanley Linberg, and Francis Wooster will attend at their own expense.

Two Youngsville High School Students, Patricia Abraham and Jack Bailey have been selected to participate in a tour of the state legislature and meet Governor George M. Leader. Transportation arrangements will be made by the state appropriations committee for the trip which is tentatively scheduled for late April or early May. Other area school selections will be announced as they are determined.

Cash Bail Totalling $400 was posted by Robert F. Walters, Renton, Pa., when arraigned before Justice of the Peace T. M. Greenlund, Monday afternoon. Walters plead innocent to charges of failing to stop at the scene of an accident which occurred on Sunday at the intersection of Third and Market, and turning out his car lights to avoid identification. Justice Greenlund bound the defendant over to court.

Judge Flick Writes Law To Save Prison Costs

Judge Alexander C. Flick told reporters today that he has prepared a law that will be presented to the Pennsylvania legislature by Assemblyman Allen M. Gibson, which will enable such prisoners as Norman W. Moon to be transferred to a state prison. This would save taxpayers much money and would be fairer to the prisoner who must be confined in a small jail where facilities are lacking for long term imprisonment.

Under the present law such a transfer cannot be made unless the prisoner has been sentenced. Moon, found guilty last May 25 for the slaying of Judge Allison D. Wade, January 13, 1954, has not been sentenced because of motions for a new trial which first must be argued and an opinion handed down dismissing the motion and setting a date for sentence.

Much time has been consumed typing a transcript of examination of 186 prospective jurors. This also was delayed because an effort was made to confine this transcription to limited portions of the examination, involving only six jurors. The attorneys later changed their minds and the entire examination was typed. This was completed and mailed to the Moon lawyers February 24, 1955.

Another delay occurred when the defense questioned Moon's sanity and Judge Flick appointed a sanity commission. The commission found that Moon had a mental illness but understood that killing Judge Wade was wrong and a crime, and understood that he had been convicted of first degree murder by a jury which fixed the death penalty. Judge Flick then handed down an opinion that Moon was legally sane and directed his attorneys to continue their motion for a new trial.

The attorneys filed exceptions to this opinion which were argued February 9, 1955, before Judge Flick, who dismissed them. They now have appealed to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania which has set a hearing for April 18, 1955. If the higher court reverses Judge Flick, Moon probably would be committed to an institution and his case would be stayed until he had recovered.

The motion for a new trial now is suspended until the court decides the mental issue. Sentence also is postponed.

The law proposed by Judge Flick would apply to seventh and eighth class counties and would enable a transfer to be made if a prisoner had been found guilty of first degree murder by a jury. It would be made on an order of the Department of Justice with the approval of the local court.

Though the county would pay the costs, they would be greatly reduced. State prisons are equipped with trained personnel, which must be employed extra by small county jails, and even then is lacking in facilities and often in training. Assemblyman Gibson is expected to find bi-partisan support of the Act.

Consolidation Of The first and second voting districts of Glade Township on Friday, March 11, now makes it possible for residents of the township to vote at one place. The merger was consummated on the grounds that it was for the public interest and it will save money. The jointure was effective immediately. Voters will report at a central voting place for the May 17 primaries, the exact location to be announced later.

Until a new board is elected in the November general election, Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., appointed the following as acting election board members: Olga Miller, judge of elections; Cecelia Smith, majority inspector; and Gladys DeVore, minority inspector, who will in turn appoint the board's clerk.

NURSES' ATTIRE. In order to protect the surgical dressings which they are folding from contamination by contact with their clothes, these members of the Business and Professional Women's club don white coverings while aiding the cancer society. The flimsy material is folded to the shapes marked on the work board in order that all dressings may be consistent in size. Dozens of these are folded at each meeting with a mid-evening coffee break as the only deviation from the usual routine.

FULLY EQUIPPED. The ladies of the Presbyterian church of Warren meet in one of the church's many rooms once per week to manufacture the supplies which are so desperately needed by the cancer patients. With sewing machines, needles and thread, scissors, and pins they change the discarded sheets, pillow cases, and men's white shirts into disposable pads and johnny shirts. Even though they are fully equipped to produce the needed supplies on a production line, it is the skill gained by years of weilding the needles that results in so many articles being completed each week.

Cancer Society Services Often Unknown By Public

By Lewis Crippen

Those who represent the Warren County unit, The American Cancer Society, have one fear — patients who could be served through their facilities may not understand the help that is available. Often because they misinterpret the concerted effort as charity, they hesitate to make their needs known. The local executive secretary, Miss Mina Rieder, states the Society's position in this manner — "those who have need of the services we supply should not delay in making their needs known. We are organized for the purpose of serving cancer patients".

Annually, a campaign for funds is promoted throughout the county. Dozens of individuals, through interested organizations, contribute time in making dressings, pads, and other needed supplies. Memorial gifts are accepted in lieu of flowers for the deceased. The dollars that are accumulated by these means are distributed as follows: 30 percent for services, 28 percent for research, 26 percent for education, 9 percent for the crusade costs, and only 7 percent for administrative costs.

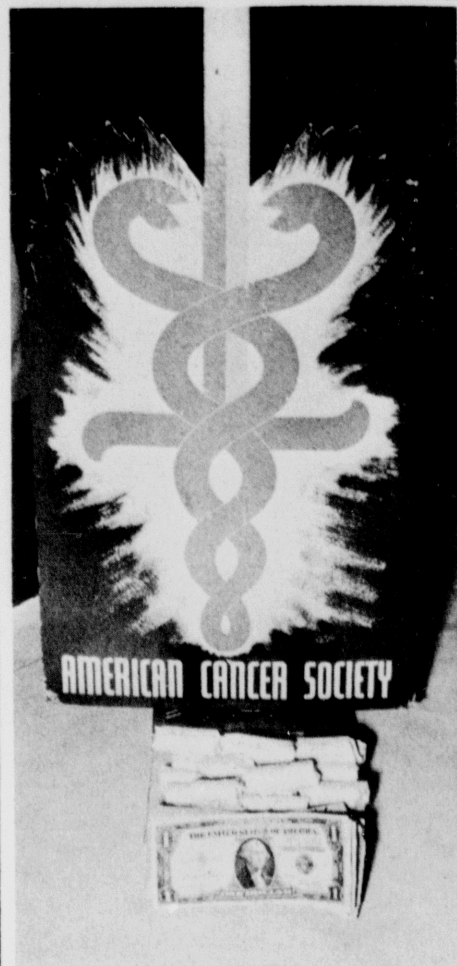

Here is a partial list of equipment and supplies available at the Cancer Center: hospital beds, wheelchair, sanitary equipment, linens, bedspreads, alcohol, and dressings for bed-ridden home patients. Arrangements may be made also for aid in paying for costly pain-relieving medications.

Free transportation can be provided to hospitals and doctors' offices, literature is available for general distribution, speakers will be arranged for any gatherings, and nine films (a projectionist and machine) are on the list to help educate the public. Fighting the ravages of cancer are your neighbors and friends who have contributed financially in order that these services may be made available.

If a member of your family or a friend is afflicted with cancer, call the Cancer Center, 404 Market st., Warren, telephone 2107, and let Miss Rieder explain how they can help.

USING THEIR TIME FOR A GOOD PURPOSE. The members of the Senior Study club of the Catholic Daughters of America meet regularly to make disposable cancer pads which are turned over to the Cancer Society for distribution. In less than one year, they completed 255 pads which were constructed of six thicknesses of newspapers covered by cloth derived from old sheets, pillow cases, men's shirts or other linen products. The ladies were so anxious to keep piling up the product that they hesitated to take from their valuable time in order to have their picture snapped. One patient required 88 dressings per day. No wonder they feel the urgency the situation requires.

BEYOND THE CALL OF DUTY.

Twenty-nine ladies of the Watson Memorial Home have sacrificed personal pleasures in order to support worthy local projects. Rather than buying cards and gifts for each other when they celebrate birthdays, the ladies meet, each deposits a nickel in a specially prepared box, they offer a prayer, and join together in singing "Happy Birthday" to the honored one whose name is placed on the small envelope which holds that particular yield. They meet annually and vote on the project to which they will contribute the total amount they have collected in this unique manner.

The picture shows the $35.00 garnered during the past year and the sign illustrates the worthy cause to which it was donated.

County - Wide Speech And Hearing Help Proposed

By Lewis Crippen

A change in the state regulations which were applicable at the start of the 1954-55 school term, provides for county-wide instruction in special services which would be too costly to be feasible on the local level. Because of this revision, certain specific problems which have been ignored in many of our public schools may now be corrected with the major share of the expenses re-imbursable to the school districts.

Recent surveys have indicated, for example, that approximately five percent of our population have speech and hearing inadequacies, the majority of which are correctable. Up until the present law definitely defined the county's position, only the larger populated areas were financially able to provide for such therapeutic training and resulted in only eighty-two classes in the state of Pennsylvania with a total enrollment of 27,100 students.

Francis R. Johnson, speech and hearing therapist in Warren area schools, advises that approximately 75 percent of his pupils have articulation difficulties; that is, they omit, distort or substitute sounds to the extent that it prohibits adequate communication or becomes conspicuous. A total of ten percent have hearing problems that quite often have related speech troubles as verification of the theory that an individual must be able to hear distinctly in order to develop proper speaking. Another ten percent have rhythm variations which result in stuttering or stammering. The balance need training to control pitch, quality, and intensity of their voices.

Mr. Johnson further stated that recent successes have been noted in developing more understandable speech among those suffering from cleft palate. Mechanical devices and surgery have been employed to overcome the physical discrepancy.

Since the Pennsylvania Department of Education has found it advisable to offer means by which each small community may solve speech and hearing problems, the responsibility for providing adequate instruction seems to have been transferred to the local citizens. In order to be of service to school boards and interested citizens, we offer the following suggestions which are permissible under existing state regulations.

The most feasible answer appears to be a certificated speech and hearing therapist employed by the Warren County school board and assigned to all the schools under its jurisdiction. Approximately 75 percent of the estimated costs of such instruction would be re-imbursed to local boards by the state and the balance would be shared on a "per pupil" basis. Full information is available at the office of John Mallery, county superintendent, and could be arranged for presentation to the convention of county directors early next fall.

Communities, sufficiently aroused, might make arrangements to provide speech and hearing corrections during the students' free time by hiring a part-time therapist on a fee basis. Such a program could provide a worthy project for enthusiastic service clubs.

Mr. Johnson remarked that the earlier the corrections are started the greater the percentage of cures. He agreed, however, that many adults would find relief if they were subjected to the treatments. It would be possible for adult classes of twenty or more to petition the local school districts for out-of-school instructions similar to those now offered in drivers' training.

Warren county is no different from the rest of the United States so we must have our five percent who suffer because of speech and hearing problems. If we do meet the national average, nearly 2,200 Warren County citizens are afflicted with speech or hearing inadequacies and may now receive corrections if we take advantage of the means that are available.

BUYERS' CORNER

The Flavoring Fattens

The claim that spaghetti is not fattening and that a four ounce serving of La Rosa spaghetti contains only 103 calories in misleading says the FTC, because the same ads also recommend sauces and other additions to make the spaghetti tasty. In short, this much spaghetti when made palatable, provides far more than 103 calories.

Other claims in La Rosa ads also are challenged, such as the claim that its products provide more protein and at the same time less calories than other foods with which they are compared. The FTC says the protein content is far below that of such foods as meat, fish, eggs, and even bread.

$70,000 And Costs

A judgment of $70,000 and costs has been asked by the Federal Trade Commission in a suit against the Century Metalcraft Corporation. It is claimed the Corporation is guilty of fourteen violations of a FTC order in which it was told to cease representing that doctors and hospitals have endorsed its kitchen utensils. The company also has been forbidden to represent that food cooked in other makes of utensils is dangerous to health, or that the use of food cooked in its utensils insures improved health, and that its utensils were used generally by the army during the last World War.

False Advertising Claims

False claims concerning the quality and the price of aluminum storm doors, windows and awnings sold by the Masterline Corporation are charged by the Federal Trade Commission. Emphasis on such words as Absolutely Free, and suggestions that deferred credit is allowed misrepresent the facts, says the FTC.

Actually customers on deferred credit pay extra interest, and the door is not free unless you buy eight or more storm windows. This you will find in small type.

Other contradictions claimed by the FTC are: the products are not fully guaranteed, are not sold at the world's lowest prices, are not everlasting or indestructible, will not save one-half the fuel bill, and customers do not get immediate installation on purchases.

$45,000 Judgment Against Steelco Stainless Steel

The Federal Trade Commission has requested a $45,000 judgment against Steelco stainless Steel for nine violations of an order to stop making unfounded claims about its cooking utensils. It also involves disparaging statements made about competitors.

Typical false claims are that use of other utensils will prevent a customer from receiving required minerals, that use of Steelco utensils will provide better health, and similar fallacies.

One false statement that seems to be involved in all these cases and which we probably should mention involves the use of aluminum. The false rumors about aluminum must have got a major push from the distributors of such utensils as Steelco and Century Metalcraft.

In their advertising and sales talks they have falsely claimed that the use of aluminum for cooking will harm your health and even have gone so far as to name terrible diseases which can result from such use. The FTC says these claims are false and the Department of Justice now is taking the legal action mentioned in this column.

Vapor Machine Debunked

Vapo-Swat Jr. and the Vapo-Glyco used in it are over-rated as effective disease fighters, says the FTC. The Vapor Chemical Co. has agreed to stop making many representations in its ads which suggest that the outfit is approved by consumer magazines, medical journals, and agencies of the government as a machine for fighting or preventing disease. The ads also must stop saying that it is effective in fighting disease or in reducing the incidence of infection or the spread of communicable disease. And it must not advertise that it is valuable in preventing or reducing the spread of colds, flu, sinus, measles, mumps, chicken pox, or any other disease.

Not Leather

Cohyde, a plastic coated fabric is not leather and the makers must specifically say so. Such sales expressions as Genuine Cohyde are no longer to be used. It is a coated cotton fabric made in Newark.

Basketball Curtain

As far as the basketball teams in Northwestern Pennsylvania the season's hopes are fading. Sheffield found Sykesville a bit too tall and was defeated, 54 to 45. Sheffield showed it had real hustle when it overcome a large lead to tie up the game in the final quarter. Sykesville spurted the final two minutes to take the District 9 Class C title. Sykesville then tried its luck against Fredonia, of District 10, but lost, 69 to 65.

Erie Strong Vincent followed the lines predicted here. It walked over Sharpville, which lacked height, 75 to 56, but once out of this area it ran into class it couldn't handle. Pittsburgh South High slapped Vincent down, 67 to 54.

The remaining hope for a major victory now rests with Kane, District 9 Class A king, which will meet South High, at Farrell, Saturday night. Kane's long lay-off may not leave it sharp enough to handle play-off quality opposition. South also has three tall men. Broadcast time, 7:45.

SPORTS THIS WEEK

And So To Track

With Sheffield out of the basketball play-offs and Warren's two finalists in the wrestling regionals defeated, all eyes turn to spring. And for most schools this means track.

Warm weather this week wasn't wasted by the Warren high school squad, ninety boys donning their scanties and taking to the field. The season will open April 19, at Corry if the Beavers' new field is completed, or at Warren if it is not. Youngsville also will be in on this one.

Though Warren lost some good men last year, when it went undefeated, there are some capable lettermen back, and many promising boys in reserve. The Dragons will be strong.

Coach Loyal Briggs has Mahaffey, Greco, Koebly, and Massa, as a nucleus in the dashes. Going the distances we find Powley, Cosmano, and Meddock. Tossing in the field events are Foley, Shanshala, and Homan. Broad jumping prospects are Lopez and Homan. Homan also high jumps. Simonsen is the pole vaulting veteran, with Jordan also expected to produce in this event.

There will be adjustments as the season moves along, new faces will move in, and the relay teams will not be shaped up until the boys show their current best.

One new feature in the unfinished schedule is a Section 2 meet, which will precede the District. The Sectional will be held at Meadville on May 11.

Wrestlers Eliminated

Considering the start Warren's wrestling team made, it was far from a discredit when two of its members went all the way to the regionals, just a hop away from the state finals. Don Brian and Bob Smith were the boys, and though they lost in the Regional match, they gave a good account of themselves, losing on decisions. Don lost to Bob Wert of Bellefonte, and Bob was decided by Don Galucci, of Johnstown. The only District 10 boy to get into the finals was Arch Dodo, of Greenville.

Stylists Wrap It Up

The Style Shop took both halves of the Warren Y City basketball league, finishing with a victory Monday, 81 to 55, over the Tidioute-Youngsville team. Leonard had 15 to lead them, while Spear topped the losers with 2.

In the other contest, the Rockets beat the Observer, 82 to 67, with Weidert getting them 30 points. Hammerbeck scored 26 for the Observer. Last week the Tidioute and Youngsville team sewed it up for the Stylists by beating the Rockets, 69 to 60. Spear for the T-Y and Weidert and Moore for the Rockets had 19 each.

Swimmers Dunked

Jamestown outsplashed the Warren Y swimming team, 35 to 31, Saturday, winning too many first place points. Norman Main won the 100 yard breast stroke for Warren and the 200 yard relay team got a first. This consisted of Main, Don Hendrickson, Bob Larson, and Roger Clicquenoil.

The prep team also lost, 36 to 21, with Pat Madden winning the 100 yard breast stroke, and the relay team, Dick Scalise, Pat Madden, Dick Hines, and Henderson, winning two firsts.

Quick Ones

Louise Culbertson, promising Warren swimmer, will take part in the women's junior AMA 100 yd. free style event at Pittsburgh, tonight. She also may have a try at the senior event. This may be her first stroke toward national attention.

UNIQUE QUINTET. When the K. of C. boys leave Warren for their annual tournament which is this year being held in Rochester, N. Y. on March 26 and 27, they will have in their company this team of brothers. The Stecs who call the clan together for this annual jaunt actually live in as distant places as Titusville and Torpedo with a couple from the Warren area. All limbered up after a game in the local Arcade alleys, the boys are ready for the stiffer competition offered at the tournament. In the picture (left to right) are: Henry, Walter, Frank, Leo, and Ed who will bowl as the Villanova team while in Rochester.

Golf Will Be Played on his Kinzua course this summer, says Les Sheldon. He isn't sure of the date, but hopes to be ready by June. He plans on a pro shop at the highest point of the course, and has changed the sequence of holes. He also says he has remade the greens and hopes to have the rough well trimmed to speed play.

A Poor Entry has resulted in the annual tournament of the Warren Bowling association. Only 28 teams are signed for the affair which this year goes to the Bowldrome. The Warren County Insurance, present champion, will not defend its title. It hit 3024 last year, when a record entry, of about fifty teams, took part.

This year's schedule starts Saturday.

Head Pin Winners in the Elks tournament were Bob Check with 323, and W. Johnson, and Harry Gra-Y Leadership now is monopolized by the South Streeters with three victories and no losses, following a 25 to 24 defeat of Home Street. Scorers were Jim Redding with 12 for Home and Ron Schneider with 11 for South. Ron got the winning basket with ten seconds to play. In the other game Jefferson edged East, 30 to 29, with Roland Poust getting 13 for the losers, and Jerry Wilson and Dave Frantz scoring 10 each for the Jeffs.

GOOD TO THE LAST DRIP. At the conclusion of a successful birthday party held by Warren Girl Scouts in Beaty gym on Saturday, March 12, ice cream suckers were distributed to the lassies. This group of Brownies felt this was a nice way to honor the founder of the Girl Scout movement in the United States, Juliette Low. One penny for each year of her age was presented by each Scout and Brownie during the ceremony for the World Friendship Fund.

School Board Approves Harrisburg Trip

Members of the Warren Area joint committee approved a trip to Harrisburg for four students and one teacher which is being jointly sponsored by Senator L. E. Chapman and Assemblyman Allen Gibson. The students, who have not as yet been chosen, will have the opportunity of visiting the legislature while it is in session and meeting Governor George Leader.

Mrs. Wilma Bennett, a member of the Kinzua school board, was selected to present the diplomas to the graduates of Warren high school during the commencement exercises. Mrs. Bennett, mother of prospective graduate Gerald Bennett, was chosen by lot from a group of four parents of seniors who are members of area school boards.

Approval was granted for Miss A. J. Hawkins, Miss Jean Steele, and George Frits to attend the Future Business Leaders of America's state convention. Dr. Whipple announced that Warren has the largest chapter of the organization in Pennsylvania and that Mr. Frits is a state sponsor. Miss Doris Smith received permission to attend the Future Teachers of America's state convention at Juniata college, Huntingdon, on March 25 and 26. Miss Jean Spencer will meet with the district student council in Franklin on April 29.

Approval was granted for Miss Kathryn Martin to teach an evening course in public speaking. A fuels class was authorized in evening school as part of the Pennsylvania State University's minerals technology extension work. Beaty was granted permission to send two carloads to Edinboro State Teacher's college for a social studies conference.

Beaty junior high school was granted affiliation with the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Special services in the amount of $374.50 were approved. Salaries of substitutes amounted to $1,331.25 and janitors were granted over time pay of $359.88. Bills for the month totaled $736.95.

The schools' attendance percentage fell to 90 which reflected the recent seige of illnesses.

The buildings and grounds committee recommended that the Lions club be authorized to use Beaty auditorium for the program "The World We Live In" on March 28 for the benefit of the sight conservation and blind fund. The Zonta club received permission to use Beaty auditorium for staging the Sheffield variety show on March 2. Beaty gym will be rented to the Style Shop basketball team for an encounter on March 29 with the New York Browns.

Miss Lenore Goodrich was elected as the girls gym teacher in Beaty for the 1955-56 term.

Immediately preceding the joint committee's meeting, the joint board held a dinner-meeting. They dined on the same menu as was served the students; that is, beef stew, tossed salad, biscuit, vegetable soup with crackers, milk or coffee, and pie. It was noted that the meal would cost a teacher forty cents or a student thirty-five cents.

The $506,275.31 budget was approved allowing for $51,258.15 more in expenses than for the 1954-55 term. Most of the additional allotment is to cover teachers' salaries designer, Fred Emhardt, nor chairman of decor, Maybelle Alexander, but "accidents" will happen, especially in "Time Out For Ginger".

THE CITIZEN AND THE COURT was the topic presented to the Industrial Management Association at its dinner-meeting in the YMCA by Judge Burton R. Laub of the Erie court. The speaker called upon his hearers to respect their responsibilities with regard to testifying willingly when subpoenaed
